ANYBODY HEAR A BELL?

tricked a Kelowna guard and avoided a road-block set up to stop them as they fled with the loot. Now the local Jaycees expect a return visit from Kelowna. (Photo by Owen Templeton)

Pentiction Exchange to Become HYatt 2 Sunday

Another conversion in a month-long program to change all telephone listings to 2-5 numbers takes place at 1 a.m. this Sunday morning, March 8, when dial exchanges serving Pentiction, Naramata, Kaledon and Summerland become HYatt 2, HYatt 6, HYatt 7 and HYatt 4 respectively.

Subscribers in these exchanges who will start using the new March-telephone directory at that time for all local calling will note that telephone listings now consist of 2 letters and 5 numbers (2-5 numbering) and that in most cases their old telephone number has remained unchanged and has merely been prefixed by two letters and one number.

For example, a Pentiction number 2143 now appears as HY 2-2143. Naramata subscribers, however, have completely new numbers in the new directory.

The HY2 prefix is merely an abbreviated office code for the new Central office name HYatt 2. To complete a local call to a 2-5 number, subscribers are required to dial only certain numerals as outlined in instructions on pages 66 and 67 of the new directory, and for long distance calling it is extremely important that the subscriber quote the full 2-5 number to the operator. For example, a call from a telephone listed as HY 2-2134 should be quoted, "HYatt 2-2134."

All long distance calls will continue to be handled by the company's operators and it is extremely important that Okanagan Telephone subscribers retain their old directories until March 22 — the final 2-5 conversion date.

For example, to call a Kelowna telephone, a Pentiction subscriber will be required to call the old directory listing up until March 22 — the date at which Kelowna gets 2-5 numbers.

The conversion to 2-5 numbers on a system-wide basis in all dial exchanges marks the completion of the first step towards direct distance dialing (D.D.D.) of long distance calls by Okanagan Telephone subscribers.

The telephone company's "target dates" for this D.D.D. service appear on page 2 of the new directory and until that time subscribers will continue to place long distance calls with the operator.

As arch-criminal Jack Weintz tells it, the Pentiction boys soon spotted the six-man guard and began diverting their attention.

Turncoat Kelowna Jaycees were in on the plot and aided in the deception.

KELOWNA CLUB MINUS PREMIER'S GIFT

Resourceful Jaycees 'Lift' Ceremonial Bell

By BILL STAVDAL

Pentiction Junior Chamber of Commerce are a bunch of thieves — and they're proud of it.

The Jaycees are proud because they are intrepid, resourceful and above all, successful.

To make off with their loot last night they employed bribery, espionage, deception, perseverance and cunning to outwit the victims.

And today the Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce is minus its prized ceremonial bell, a gift of Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

It all happened this way: Last fall Premier Bennett presented the heavy brass bell to the Kelowna Junior Chamber. A relic of the ferry M.V. Pandosy, it was suitably engraved and formed the centrepiece of every Kelowna Jaycee meeting.

So proud of the bell was the Kelowna group that they assigned a guard for it, naturally drawing the attention of Pentiction and Kamloops Chambers. Last night the treasure was plundered.

Visiting Kelowna to promote the Jaycees Spring Congress to be held in Pentiction April 11 and 12, Pentiction and Kamloops delegations both had their eyes on the bell.

Planning, said Jack Weintz, "As arch-criminal Jack Weintz tells it, the Pentiction boys soon spotted the six-man guard and began diverting their attention."

Turncoat Kelowna Jaycees were in on the plot and aided in the deception.

At the right moment Jack grabbed the bell and scuttled out a side door. Pursued by Kamloops' Jaycees, he locked it in the trunk of Stan McPherson's car.

The Kamloops boys tore the wiring loose before Jack could get the flight organized, and a quick repair job was necessary.

After McPherson, Wilf Smith and Wally Peters were on the way south, they faced another problem.

Kelowna Jaycee Al Anderson overtook them, then set up a road block at Trepanier, north of Peachland.

McPherson outwitted him by following another car when Anderson was forced to back off the road.

Then they were in the clear. Today the Pentiction boys have their new-found bell in hiding and are using it as bait for a large Kelowna representation at the April Spring Congress here.

"If they don't turn out in force, then they don't get their bell," says Jack Weintz.

Garrish Refutes Claims By Beich

Growers in the Okanagan received a circular letter yesterday signed by A. R. Garrish, president of the BCFGA, refuting the claims of Alfred Beich of Oliver and the group calling themselves the Okanagan-Kootenay Co-operative Growers' Association.

The letter states that no defence is needed for Dean MacPhee nor for his report, and that the writer believes that most of the growers have ability to decide for themselves whether they are going to believe Dean MacPhee or Mr. Beich.

It says further that Mr. Beich and his group have written a great deal about the legal status of the BCFGA and that all aspects of this have been laid before Dean MacPhee and are discussed in his report.

"The alleged comparisons of prices to growers in B.C. and those in various states of the union and other parts of Canada are directly contrary to the findings of Dean MacPhee," Mr. Garrish says referring to pages 555 and 558 of the report.

Frequent references by Beich and his followers to the Sanford Evans report of 1931 are mentioned by the BCFGA head. "His report," the letter states, "was completely rejected by the BCFGA convention of 1931 at which time Mr. Evans urged the scrapping of the Produce Marketing Act."

"But," Mr. Garrish continues, "the Act was thrown out by the courts in February of the same year and chaos prevailed in the fruit marketing picture until 1934 when both the federal and provincial governments enacted marketing legislation at the demand of the growers."

Mr. Garrish in the communication states, "amendment of the Natural Products Marketing Act so as to throw the selling of fruit wide open would destroy the position of the BCFGA in grower affairs. Dean MacPhee has stated that the type of organization we have now is the right one for this industry; that it is based on sound principles and efficiently administered and documented his case after two years of study."

The circular concludes: "If you believe the best interests of the industry will be served by all growers working together, selling their crops as one unit, settling their differences by democratic debate and maintaining a united front in presenting their case to the government in matters of tariff and price support, you can show this by signing and returning the three-party contract. Officers of locals and the BCFGA are willing to discuss this further at any time. The future course of the industry is to pursue is in your hands."

Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia (CP)—The British rulers of Nyasaland today arrested nationalist leader Hastings Banda and declared a state of emergency in the east African protectorate.

Sir Robert Armitage, governor of the colony, said Banda, 54-year-old physician leader of the African National Congress, and a large number of other militant nationalists seized with him would be sent into exile.

Meanwhile, in Blantyre, Nyasaland, violent rioting broke out today and three Africans were reported killed when police charged with nightsticks. Two other Africans and a policeman were injured.

The army shortly after midnight into space blasted the Pioneer. A few hours later scientists said it would pass the moon and eventually become a satellite of the sun.

The missing plane carried enough fuel for four hours and 30 minutes, and the 300-mile flight should have been completed in less than three hours.

The RCAF search and rescue officials in Vancouver said today the Cessna 170 left Kelowna at 9:30 a.m. Monday and has not been reported since. Aboard are the pilot Charles M. Shields and his wife, believed to be residents of Prince George.

An RCAF Canoe left Vancouver today to search for the missing plane, and an RCAF Dakota was to join the search later.

The missing plane carried enough fuel for four hours and 30 minutes, and the 300-mile flight should have been completed in less than three hours.

The $2,000,000 subsidy item then passed by a voice vote.

The meeting, storming from recent, repeated criticisms of Okanagan water supplies and playgrounds by Dr. D. A. Clarke, director of the South Okanagan Health Unit, will be held in Pentiction council chambers.

In asking Pentiction council's sanction to the meeting last night, a letter from Pentiction board of trade expressed concern about the adverse publicity to the Valley from Dr. Clarke's criticisms as well as an apprehension about dangers to the health of Valley residents, and possible curtailment of use of water playgrounds.

It was noted that the only criticism in Dr. Clarke's remarks as far as Pentiction was concerned, was the long-standing need for a chlorinator on the high line supplying domestic water to the benches. Tenders are now being called for a chlorinator for this water supply.

Previously Called Project 'A Waste'

By VIC MISUTKA
(Herald City Editor)

Mayor C. E. Oliver did not so much as raise an eyebrow last night when his city council gave the "go ahead" to a project which he has been roundly condemning for the past several weeks as unnecessary and a waste of taxpayers' funds.

Approved was replacement of the Okanagan River irrigation pump line serving the Ellis Creek flats in the Skaha Lake area on an emergency standby basis. The $10,000 project was under study by council's irrigation committee ever since the mayor instructed Oliver Chemical Co. not to fill an order for the pipe required, about a month ago.

Last night's motion was to approve the minutes of the irrigation committee meeting on Feb. 27, which contained the recommendation that the irrigation pump line be replaced and tenders for pipe be called immediately.

Also on recommendation of the committee, it was decided that opinions supporting or opposing replacement of the line would be considered, only if presented in writing on or before the date to be set for opening tenders.

About an hour earlier in the meeting, during the hearing of fruit growers' protests against the 1959 boost in irrigation rates, the mayor again strongly condemned replacing the line as an "absolutely intolerable idea."

He suggested the $10,000 saved by merely patching the present line would make the boost in irrigation rates unnecessary.

NO EXCUSE FOR PUMPS
"There is absolutely no excuse for that pump," the mayor declared.

Skaha Lake growers present disagreed, however. Asked by Ald. P. E. Pauls whether they thought the pump was necessary, all agreed it was since it assures that there is irrigation water available if the creek supply runs low. The pump has been used almost every season, it was pointed out, to bolster the creek supply. There was divided opinion among the growers, however, on whether the present line should be replaced with new pipe.

Ald. P. E. Pauls then pointed out that replacement of the line was recommended to the 1959 council by last year's irrigation committee under the heading: "Number one priority—urgent—must be done this year."

PINHOLES IN LINE
"There is no need to foist onto the taxpayers the costs of operating that pump, the mayor stubbornly insisted. "Our consulting engineer couldn't see why the present line can't be used for quite a few years. Our irrigation foreman could only find small pinholes in it."

Ald. W. H. L. Whimster then recalled his own observations of the present line's condition. He said sections of the pipe looked and sounded solid when struck but other sections were rusty, sounded dull and had soggy ground around them.

"My reaction is that a good many sections could only be described as porous," said Ald. Whimster. "If any part of the line went out while in use, there could be disaster. Replacement of the line is the only sensible prevention."

"I'm getting fed up with the quarrels at city council table. I suggest the whole bunch of you should resign and that includes you too, Mr. Mayor."

This blast at Pentiction city council last night came from Reg Duncan, one of about 15 growers protesting a 20 per cent boost in irrigation rates. The growers said the rate hike would be the final straw for many hard pressed orchardists already paying the highest agricultural land tax in the country.

Charging that irrigation problems were due to a tremendous amount of mismanagement all the way through, Mr. Duncan criticized council for not making the acreage that comes off the irrigation roll each year continue to pay some of the system's costs, and for letting the irrigation system become in bad need of repair.

Mr. Duncan's sentiments on council's disunity, stemming from recent requests by the mayor for the resignation of two of his aldermen and for his suspension of the city works superintendent for the third time in two years, were endorsed by Mrs. Leslie Balla who suggested that both mayor and aldermen should "give a little and work together."

"After all we elected each of you," Mr. Balla said.

"I'm not afraid to have another election," declared Mayor Oliver. "I have done the things I promised to do but I didn't think I was going to have a council this year which would object to everything I do."

Jim Coe suggested the mayor should forget the past and get on with the job at hand.

"I say you can't forget," the mayor shouted. "You just can't go on this way. You just can't work with incompetent people."

The growers' case was presented first of all in a brief from the Agricultural Ratepayers Association, submitted by A. Schwenk, president.

The arguments failed to change council's mind, however, and final reading was given to the by-law boosting the city's irrigation rates by $4 an acre. The 1959 rate accordingly is $24 for the first acre, $23 for the second, $22 for the third, $21 for the fourth and $20 for the fifth and succeeding acres.

The growers' brief pointed out that orchardists are paying the highest agricultural land tax in the country as borne out by the findings of the MacPhee royal commission. In these higher taxes, the growers have long subsidized other city operations rather than general revenue subsidizing the irrigation system by an average of $10,000 per year as the city hall records show.

Bennett Clashes With Opposition

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier Bennett was repeatedly on his feet in a long and stormy session of the British Columbia legislature Monday night. The longest night-sitting of the five-week old session, it ended at 1 a.m.

The premier repeatedly rose to criticize and answer opposition members during discussions on budget estimates for the provincial education department, toll highways and bridges and authority and civil service salaries.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan claimed a $2,000,000 subsidy item for toll highways and bridges should have been included in a vote on the province's debt.

"I have said it before and I say it again, this province is not a day of debt," Mr. Strachan said. Premier Bennett replied: "He ought to be a teacher; always lecturing this government. The more you talk the more ignorant it shows you are in the affairs of this province."

Tony Gargrave (CCF—Mackenzie) objected to what he said was parliamentary abuse.

"Stop your yackety, yack," Mr. Bennett said.

Mr. Gargrave then said he objected "to this personal abuse."

"Would you keep quiet my friend?" the premier stormed.

Mr. Strachan leaped to his feet and told the House:

"I would gather that I owe the premier a most object and complete apology."

"I had the effrontery, the colossal gall to think that the opposition had a right of criticism. . . . How vindictive can he become in heaping personal abuse in this House?"

The $2,000,000 subsidy item then passed by a voice vote.

Meeting Called On Pollution Control Agency

Possible establishment of a pollution control agency in the Okanagan will be discussed at a meeting in Pentiction next Tuesday of Kelowna, Vernon and Pentiction city councils and board of trade representatives and public health officers.

The meeting, storming from recent, repeated criticisms of Okanagan water supplies and playgrounds by Dr. D. A. Clarke, director of the South Okanagan Health Unit, will be held in Pentiction council chambers.

In asking Pentiction council's sanction to the meeting last night, a letter from Pentiction board of trade expressed concern about the adverse publicity to the Valley from Dr. Clarke's criticisms as well as an apprehension about dangers to the health of Valley residents, and possible curtailment of use of water playgrounds.

It was noted that the only criticism in Dr. Clarke's remarks as far as Pentiction was concerned, was the long-standing need for a chlorinator on the high line supplying domestic water to the benches. Tenders are now being called for a chlorinator for this water supply.

Plane With Two Aboard Still Missing

VANCOUVER (CP)—A light private plane with two persons aboard is missing on a flight from Kelowna to Prince George, in the Interior.

RCAF search and rescue officials in Vancouver said today the Cessna 170 left Kelowna at 9:30 a.m. Monday and has not been reported since. Aboard are the pilot Charles M. Shields and his wife, believed to be residents of Prince George.

An RCAF Canoe left Vancouver today to search for the missing plane, and an RCAF Dakota was to join the search later.

The missing plane carried enough fuel for four hours and 30 minutes, and the 300-mile flight should have been completed in less than three hours.

Air Service Needs Backed By City Council

Pentiction city council last night agreed with a request from Pentiction Board of Trade for support of an application from William Gaede for an air service at Pentiction Airport including charter and engineering services and a flying school.

Council will write a letter to the Air Transport Board in support of Mr. Gaede's application emphasizing the points noted by the board of trade.

These points are: Need for a flying school is indicated by the fact that there are 20 to 30 potential students in the area.

An engineering service would make it unnecessary for the local flying club's 10 planes to be taken to Kamloops or Kelowna for servicing and would be an extra benefit for U.S. planes using the field.

The charter service would be a boon to fishermen, hunters, timber cruisers, prospectors and provincial government service employees who need to charter planes occasionally for work in this area.

ESQUIMALT, B.C. (CP)—A regulation prohibiting dogs from being let loose on beaches here was proposed Monday night by Councillor G. K. Sammon, who said trouble "on the beaches last year could have been avoided if owners had used leashes on their dogs."

AIRLINE AUTHORITY SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

NEW GRACE GOSPEL CHURCH TO RISE HERE

It looks as though there's a rocky road ahead for this earth-mover starting work at the site of the new Grace Gospel Church at Main and Pentiction. Boulders were the first to go as work started Monday, observed by these members of the church. From left are board members J. A. Connon, N. E. Bradshaw, J. C. Wilson, W. N.

Shaw, Pastor L. M. Gillett, E. L. Miller and P. E. Miller. The $25,000 structure rising on this spot will be relegated to use as a Sunday School when a larger building is built later.

City to Subdivide Tract for Housing

The 20-acre tract of city land on Pentiction Avenue, which real estate interests have asked to be offered for sale in a block, will be developed as a low-priced subdivision by the city, council decided last night.

The city fathers rejected a recommendation from the land sales committee that the land be offered for sale in a block with a floor price of $65,000, and moved to stick with the original plans of city development with the 100 potential lots to be offered for sale on a gradual basis.

Only Ald. W. H. Whimster and Mayor C. E. Oliver thought the land should be sold as a block, and let private interests develop it, pointing out that the whole tract would immediately come on the tax rolls.

Ald. C. P. Bird, Ald. A. C. Kendrick, Ald. P. E. Pauls and Ald. Elsie MacCleave, however, were convinced the land should not be sold as one block for any price.

"It's not a question of encroaching on real estate men's preserves," said Ald. Pauls, "since we're not going out and buying the block for development."

"If we can develop that land we can sell the lots for around $1,500 each," said Ald. Bird. "If private interests develop it the price will probably be around $2,500 per lot."

STARTED WITH JAM ON STOVE

Founder of Milne's Cannery Dies in U.S.

who established a large cannery here by starting to make jam on her own kitchen stove, died in California during the weekend.

Mrs. D. L. Milne, widow of the late D. L. Milne, a former Summerland high school principal, died at Newport Beach, Saturday morning.

Funeral services were held today at Newport Beach where it has been Mrs. Milne's custom to go for the winter.

A son and daughter-in-law, Mr.

and Mrs. Howard Milne, flew to California Saturday. Her other son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Milne, moved last fall to Newport Beach.

Mrs. Milne was active in the work of Summerland Baptist Church and in the WCU.

Milne's Cannery was started in 1928 and has grown to important proportions since that time. Mrs. Milne was assisted by her two sons in building up the business. Quality of the pack is known to be good and is supplied to hospitals in Vancouver as well as many other places.

Besides her two sons and their wives, Mrs. Milne is survived by five grandchildren; one brother, Albert Andrews of Brandon, Man.; and four sisters, Mrs. Emily McVeety of Regina, Mrs. Walter Mitchell, Spirit River, Alta.; Mrs. George Pring, Woking, Alta.; and Mrs. Marjorie Smith of Pasadena, Calif.

Outside Protection Must Be Paid for

OSOYOOS.—Fire protection for residents of areas surrounding Osoyoos is up to them, Osoyoos village council has decided.

Question arose from a recent fire just outside the Osoyoos fire protection district, to which the fire brigade refused to respond. The building was a total loss.

Residents should petition among themselves if they wish inclusion in the fireprotection district, council feels.

If financial arrangements can cover increased protection, council favors it.

WATER WANTED TOO

Council ran into another problem at the meeting when residents bordering the village asked for extension of water services.

The village does not wish to set a precedent but realizes the old reason for not supplying water outside village limits is no longer valid. Formerly the village was short of water but since replacing of old leaky water mains, there is a surplus of water.

It was suggested that one way to get water would be for the area, all within a quarter of a mile of the village limits, to petition for extension of the village limits westward to Highway 97.

This would also create a good residential area.

OLIVER.—The annual appeal for funds for the Canadian Red Cross Society begins throughout North America this week. R. H. Leake has been named Red Cross Campaign Chairman for the Oliver District.

Mr. Leake said the quota for this district has been set at $1,800 and the drive will extend through the month of March.

John Hope of the Oliver branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce has been appointed campaign treasurer.

Other campaign committee members include Andrew Bell, J. Rogers, Mrs. Lucy Hack, Mrs. S. F. R. Hunt, Mrs. Helen Mars, Mrs. John Zarelli, Mrs. F. H. Wadman and Mrs. Agnes Padgett.

Because it is corrosion-resistant and greatly outlasts ordinary materials, Monel nickel-copper alloy is used for faucet seats in better grades of plumbing fixtures.

Car Thief Gets Extra Sentence

A two-month concurrent sentence was added yesterday to the 18 months already dealt out to a convicted car thief.

David Lucien Dekelver, no fixed address, was convicted last week of theft of an auto early in February. Yesterday Magistrate H. J. Jennings heard Dekelver admit theft of goods worth less than $50, and handed down the second sentence.

In other court action, Edward W. Scrivers of Tonasket, Washington, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention, and was fined $30 and $5.50 costs.

Scrivers was involved in an accident in Pentiction near midnight Saturday.

EDUCATION BIGGEST BUSINESS IN PENTICTON AREA

School Work Not Just Preparation for Life

"Education as we know it in our schools is not a preparation for life alone but life itself," said P. F. Erault, former chairman of Pentiction School board, in an address to the Education Week assembly launching Pentiction High School's Vocations Day program yesterday.

Mr. Erault said education is not only a process of getting ready for the future, but also a purposeful living of each moment of life and instruction to contribute to the immediate and future.

Object of education, according to Mr. Erault, is "to secure a balanced condition of learning and a distribution of education between moral, scientific, cultural, practical and physical instruction, eventually producing a student of desirable character as we see these attributes personified in the men and women of our time."

DOUBT RE EDUCATION

Observing that there has always been doubt regarding what education is or ought to be, Mr. Erault asked: "Do we seek to teach our children to be as we are, or do we teach them to be all they can be?"

He said schools do not and cannot be expected to, teach students all they should know, but rather to try to put the student "in the way of learning."

"The pupil must be an active participant and not a passive observer," he said. "The student must labor to obtain the knowledge of a good education. There is no royal road to learning—only hard work and full application to the task at hand."

Text of Mr. Erault's address continues: Pentiction has an educational institution equal to the best in Canada, staffed with teachers no less able, and provided with buildings and equipment interior to none.

GREATEST BUSINESS

It may not be realized that the schools of Pentiction are the greatest business in Pentiction, containing the largest capital investment by far the largest payroll, and performing the most important tasks of all—making education available to all children.

The school boards have endeavored to make available to all citizens of Pentiction the fullest information about their education system, and especially parents who have children attending the schools.

STUDENTS VARY

All students are of widely different ability, desires and objects, and yet have a nature common to all. Education at one and the same time must master sameness and differences—permanence in an ever changing condition.

NEW METHODS

Even in the short time since some of us attended school, new methods have been used. Education by visual training has been introduced through books, slides and motion pictures, and now television, and yet many things have remained the same. You still must learn grammar, mathematics, and many other subjects by applying hard work and effort. Since the details of the activities of the parents of this day and age become less familiar to the student than in the past, therefore it cannot be taken for granted that society sends its young to school with the common knowledge it did in the past. Therefore the schools have been obliged to expand the education fields which were formerly provided by the home.

MORE EDUCATION NEEDED

In our ever-changing civilization under a democratic system there is an ever-increasing necessity for every student to obtain more education than in the past.

Canada at the beginning of the century had only three technicians per hundred thousand of its population, but in 1955 it required 234 technicians for every hundred thousand of the population. In 1958 the United States Department of Labour estimated that each year one million jobs vanished on the North American Continent for those with primary education.

Dr. Gordon Schrum, a director of the B.C. Research Council recently stated that the ratio of engineers, technicians and scientists to other workers is now one to every six or seven, while in 1900 it was one to every 250.

HIGH SCHOOL DOUBLES WAGE It has been estimated that the average wage of the worker with an elementary education is in the range of $10 to $12 per day, while those with high school matriculation practically double this amount.

Today, to successfully master the operation of the new complicated machines of industry and commerce, high school graduation is not only desirable, but necessary. We need only to look about us to see the great advantage of having a university education, which is practically a necessity in our rapidly expanding economy, if our present economic status is to be maintained and improved.

HARDER WORK THAN EVER

Machines have reduced or eliminated the hard physical work and drudgery of life, but in future, as in the past, the students will be required to apply themselves to the task of learning by industrious concentration, and any student who is under the delusion that he can secure advancement and promotion and be of service to his fellow man (and incidentally himself) by any other process is due for a rude awakening.

He should be enlightened as early as possible that the opportunity is reduced, that he is prevented from securing a full and better life the less he takes advantage of his opportunities. This fuller life is not confined to material advancement but a more important condition of culture, economic, mental and moral. Then, too, he is able to render better service to his fellow man.

VALUE OF SPORTS

This brings us to another phase of education—physical education. No nation has survived as a great nation which neglected the physical training of its youth. The ancient Greeks in their day were one of the greatest intellectual nations, yet no nation took more care to train its youth in physical

CONSTRUCTION LAGGING FAR BEHIND LAST YEAR TOTALS

Pentiction's construction industry continued to fall far behind the pace of 1958 last month, city council learned last night in the monthly report from G. E. Corbin, building inspector.

Seventeen permits for private dwellings, with a value of $52,534 were issued, along with seven business and industrial projects for $48,034, bringing the month's total new construction value to $100,568. This was less than half of the corresponding total of $251,855 for February, last year.

The 1959 construction total is now $144,929, slightly more than a third of the value of new buildings started in the first two months of 1958.

New Look at Free Parking

The perennial problem of whether to allow free parking for convention visitors to Pentiction, produced a division among Pentiction city council members last night.

Ald. P. E. Pauls and Ald. Clem Bird spoke in support of this little privilege for the city's convention guests and wanted the recent ban on free parking for anyone, lifted.

Ald. W. H. L. Whimster, Ald. Elsie MacCleave and Ald. A. C. Kendrick, however, contended that no special privileges should be granted to anyone but rather the law should apply equally to all.

Council will give the matter another week of study and decide next Monday whether the new policy of no free parking should be reconsidered.

OKAY FOR BONSPIEL

Meanwhile guests attending the Pentiction Granite Club's fourth annual Sweepstakes Curling Bonspiel next week will get courtesy parking cards. This is because the club promised free parking to its guests in literature sent out several weeks before the free-parking ban went into effect.

All the council members agreed that the club's promise was made in good faith and should be kept whether the new no-parking policy is reversed or not.

EXTRA PRIVILEGE

"But it's just an extra privilege to encourage the convention guest to come back again," said Ald. Bird.

"I can't see where you can give a privilege to one person and fine the one next to him for over-parking," said Ald. MacCleave. "I believe we should stick to something ethical in our little gimmicks for visitors."

Ald. Bird countered that the convention business was becoming highly competitive and if Pentiction didn't try to keep its share of it, the visiting conventioners would go to Kelowna or Vernon, who have no scruples about giving them extra privileges.

Ald. Pauls agreed, drawing the parallel of a man in business who doesn't want to advertise but is forced to do so by the aggressive advertising campaigns of his competitors.

Work Started on New Sewer Project

Work is now underway on the first portion of Pentiction's four-year, one and a quarter million dollar sewer system expansion project.

E. R. Gayer, superintendent of works, told city council last night that G. W. Ledingham Co. Ltd. has begun work at Comox Street, the first phase of the sewer job. A number of wellpoints have been established as part of the work.

$51,200 CONTRACT

The company has a contract for a line from the present disposal plant to the new disposal plant site and a connecting line to the present sewer system at Hastings Street. Contract price is $51,200.

Reviewing other works department activities of the past week, Mr. Gayer reported road construction is continuing on Yorkton Avenue east with considerable work also done on drainage problems caused by local flooding during the past week.

Improvements on the museum deck of the S.S. Seacombe were continued.

In the domestic water department, work was renewed on the laying of the domestic water main along South Beach Drive.

Irrigation crews reconstructed the stairway to the Pentiction system irrigation gate for better access and greater safety. Some old service boxes were removed and flume repairs carried out at the north end of Ellis Flats while brush was cleared around the flumes.

JOHN SOUTHWORTH

Among three speakers at the general assembly which opened the first Vocations Day program at Pentiction High School yesterday afternoon, was John Southworth, vice-president of Inland Natural Gas Co. Other speakers were P. F. Erault, former school board chairman, and H. Laub of Pentiction Rotary Club which helped the high school to sponsor Vocations Day as part of Education Week.

At 12.5 Per Cent of Cost to Pentiction

The board of transport commissioners has seen the need for an automatic warning signal at the Eckhardt Avenue East railway crossing in Pentiction without urging from city council.

Council was awaiting results of a survey of underpass construction needs in the city before taking any action but the transport board said in a letter last night that it had a survey made following the Jan. 15 fatality at the crossing and felt that automatic protection was needed.

Providing the Canadian Pacific Railway also agrees, the city can get the protection device for 12 and a half per cent of the installation cost plus half of the annual maintenance costs. The transport board would pay 80 per cent of the installation cost with the CPR shouldering seven and a half per cent plus the other half of the annual maintenance.

Council members agreed the plan was a "good deal" for the city and a letter of endorsement was authorized at once. Council is urging speedy installation of the warning signal.

The crossing was the scene of two car-train mishaps in the past two months including the collision in which John H. Vader, 68, a retired CPR employee, was killed. On Feb. 10, E. H. Mills, 20, of Naramata, escaped with bruises and shock in the second collision of 1959 at the crossing.

The father of the second mishap-victim, G. W. H. Mills of Naramata, said in a letter to council last night that his son's mishap could have been avoided if the crossing had been sandbed right away after the snowplow had gone over it.

The letter, received and filed by council, suggested that the city's methods of snow removal and sanding should definitely be looked into.

Expressing relief that his son escaped with relatively minor injuries, Mr. Mills added that the young man lost his transportation since his car was completely wrecked. Insurance coverage was in his brother's name.

Tenders Called for Hi-Line Chlorinator

Tenders are now being called for a chlorinator and booster pump on Pentiction's hi-line supplying domestic and irrigation water to the North Benches of Pentiction.

City council last night authorized the call for tenders in accordance with specifications submitted by D. K. Penfold, consulting engineer for the pump, and E. R. Gayer, city superintendent of works, for the chlorinator.

The booster pump will push extra water into the lines downtown to partially overcome the small size of pipe in some of the domestic water network.

Council at the same time approved a recommendation of the domestic water committee for investigation of the Okanagan Lake intake extension as recommended by Mr. Penfold.

Services of a skin diver are to be employed to examine the lake bottom at the spot where it is proposed to locate the intake. It is proposed to extend the intake 1,600 feet northward into water of 80-foot depth to overcome objectionable features of lake water from the present shallower location.

No decision on the intake extension will be made, however, until the lake bottom has been examined and quality of the water at the proposed new location, determined.

TALK OF THE VALLEY

FIRE SIREN which blew yesterday afternoon at 2:15 was in response to a minor blaze at the garage of Dunc Morgan and Art Venter on Main Street. Scorched paint was the main damage after a spark apparently set a tool cabinet afire.

AFTERMATH of another fire saw Fire Chief Merv Foreman deny a report that a smouldering spark had touched off a second fire at the home of Ron Stewart Sunday afternoon. Firemen doused one fire Saturday at noon, and maintain it was completely out when they left. "Pure coincidence," says Chief Foreman.

BACK TO OLIVER come Mr. and Mrs. George W. Minns, who have spent the past two weeks as members of a Rotary Goodwill Tour.

YOU CAN EXPECT to see the merits of natural gas presented for your consideration this spring: Inland Natural Gas Co. this morning hosted merchants at a breakfast meeting in the Prince Charles Hotel, coordinating plans for their spring promotion. Incidentally, there's no truth to the rumor that science has perfected a natural gas shaver.

EDUCATION is the foundation of success, high school students were told yesterday by Hank Laub, chairman of the first Vocational Day at Pentiction High. "In business, leather jackets, long hair and tight jeans don't fit in—anywhere," said Laub.

A REALIST is Ted Williams, organizing the forthcoming Pentiction Granite Club's Fourth Annual Bonspiel. "Curling isn't a sport," said Ted, "it's a disease."

Convention Free Parking A Small Enough Privilege

Talk to convention delegates as they leave Penticton and you will find that it was the little things that made their stay here pleasant.

They enjoy the lakes, the hills, the orchards, but they are impressed more by the small courtesies shown them by hotel and motel proprietors, store clerks, and the city council.

Most cities in the big business of convention trade are realizing this. Penticton seems determined to take at least one step back on the parking meter issue discussed at city council last night.

There is no doubt in our mind that Alderman Clem Bird and Alderman Paul Pauls are right in their contention that the free parking privilege usually granted convention guests is a privilege that pays dividends. It is one of the small things, insignificant in one way but extremely important in another.

Convention guests mean a great deal to us economy wise. A little extra fuss over them seems to be in order. The few pennies lost in revenue would be more than repaid by the feeling of those guests that Penticton not only appreciated their presence but wanted them to come back.

It may be said that the few who will doubtless get parking tickets during their stay here would hardly miss an extra $2.50 in fines. But it isn't the cash that counts. Human nature is strange and nothing sparks quicker anger towards a town and its people than a little scrap of paper fluttering on a windshield informing the unsuspecting guest that though he's welcome here we are fining him $2.50 for violating the most minor of all traffic regulations.

An Annual Vocation Day

Penticton Rotary Club can stand up and take a bow for the enterprise shown in organizing Vocational Day at Penticton High School.

The program of lectures offered students yesterday afternoon by men and women who have made more than a reasonable success of their careers gave youngsters an opportunity to discuss first hand the problems of the trade in which they are interested.

That the day was a great success was obvious to those who talked to any of the students towards the end of the afternoon. For the first time in their schooling career they had been granted the opportunity of listening to the needs of over 30 different trades. They had been told of some of the pitfalls facing youngsters starting their first job, and of the rewards available for those who apply themselves sincerely.

We hope that each year the Rotary Club will sponsor a similar day, thus granting the almost-ready-to-graduate student a first hand opportunity of deciding what his career should be.

First Year Hazard

The question is repeatedly raised whether a university should admit only those who, by their high marks, have proved that they possess the ability for a university education.

It would certainly seem that resources may be wasted by trying to educate those who do not have the ability. Yet many of those who do enter a university with high marks may also fail.

This problem brings comments from the deans of several of the faculties of McGill University. It occurs, for example, in the report of Prof. D. L. Mordell, Dean of the McGill Faculty of Engineering. And though he describes this problem as it concerns his own faculty, it would seem to have application to most other faculties as well.

It is by no means certain that a student who has high marks on leaving high school will have high marks in university. "Repeatedly," says Dean Mordell, "we find that a student has high marks at school leaving and performs poorly at McGill."

Inquiry into such cases generally discovers that the high school student was able to get his high marks by one or two months of concentrated work at the end of the term. In university he believes that there is plenty of time to "catch up." But conditions have changed. The effort may be made to do six months of university work in six weeks. But it is likely to fail.

Dean Mordell believes that there is a great need for counselling first year students. Such a system is to be introduced into the Faculty of Engineering next year.

Other reports have references to the same problem — the problem of poor academic performances in the first year. From the Law Faculty, Dean W. C. J. Meredith reports that the decrease in the total enrolment is partly due "to the enforcement of stricter requirements for admission in an effort to reduce the number of first-year casualties."

From Macdonald College, Dean H. G. Dion expresses his belief that students in agriculture might well be admitted by senior matriculation only. "With students a year older," he writes, "academic achievement would be higher, and survival to graduation greater. It is generally recognized that students fail not because they cannot meet the standards, but rather because they are not interested enough — in the face of other distractions — to accept the challenge."

The proposal that only those — or all those — with the ability to learn should be given a university education is evidently not as simple as it might seem. Those with the ability might be among the failures. Even the able student may need something more than opportunity; he may need thoughtful counselling as well. From school to university is a big step.

Adequate Rest For Mothers

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Whether you expectant mothers realize it or not, it takes a good deal of energy to have a baby. A nap in the afternoon, especially during the last few months of pregnancy, generally is a good idea. But whether you nap or not, it is during the night that you must really get most of the rest you need.

SLEEP DIFFICULT

Now as the months progress sleeping in a comfortable position is going to become somewhat of a problem.

I suggest that you lie on either side — the side on which you normally sleep is preferable — with your knees bent. This permits the weight of the baby to rest on the bed.

Tug your pillow into a slanting position so that it supports not only your head but your breast and shoulder as well.

Rising from a prone position eventually becomes quite a problem. The easiest way is to roll far over on your side with the lower arm nearest the bed resting flat on the mattress. Rest the palm of your other hand on the mattress with your arm bent at the elbow. Raise the upper part of your body slowly, shifting the weight easily to the palm of the lower hand.

NATURAL ACTION

It's a natural action and after you do it a couple of times it will, as a rule, be easy.

Sitting down also requires a little thought. For one thing, don't choose a big overstuffed chair. Rather, select a comfortable one but one that is straight.

Use your leg muscles to lower yourself into chair by first putting one foot behind the other and then bending your knees.

Take it easy with your climbing especially during the last month or so of your pregnancy. By using your foot and leg muscles you save those in your back which already are overworked.

As you climb the stairs place one foot firmly on the step, then shift your weight to that leg, straightening it out as you lift the other leg. Go slowly. Don't run.

You will continue doing housework, of course, at least until the latter stages of your pregnancy. That means you will be reaching for food and various other items stored on shelves.

When you have to reach, stand as closely as possible to the shelf, take a deep breath and rise on your toes. Use both hands to grab the object in order to prevent any strain on your abdominal muscles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Miss L. H.: Can you tell me if there is anything lacking in my diet as I am terribly constipated and have to take laxatives all the time?

Answer: Much can be done to correct constipation by adjusting the diet. An ample amount of fluids, mildly laxative foods such as fruit juices, fruits and vegetables are helpful. An occasional dose of mineral oil may be necessary but laxatives as a regular thing should be avoided.

TRYING TO GET EVERYBODY IN STEP

LETTERS to the EDITOR

HAPPY DEAN

Sir: In the Herald last Thursday you published a letter under the heading "Gloomy Dean" and signed "R.E.R." containing a number of assertions which are not correct.

R.E.R. states that "seventy-five percent of the delegates tried the front door at a recent convention and found that Mr. Garrish had it padlocked". I do not know what span of time he covers by the word "recent" but from my experience in the BCFGA this statement is completely unfounded. I have attended three conventions, the first as an onlooker, the last two as a delegate, and cannot recall any moment when Mr. Garrish "padlocked the door" to any delegates, let alone seventy-five percent. Mr. Garrish may or may not have his faults as president of the BCFGA, but no fault can be found with his actions as chairman of the annual convention. His actions are completely fair and impartial, and within the rules of parliamentary procedure. Does "R.E.R." seriously believe that the majority of the delegates would permit Mr. Garrish to interfere with or restrict their rights as delegates or to prevent the full airing of a minority opinion? If he really believes this he greatly underestimates the calibre of the majority of the delegates.

"R.E.R." calls Dean McPhee the "Gloomy Dean" apparently because he has pointed out that five acre growers are operating an uneconomic farm. He should note that under the terms of reference of the Royal Commission at its formation the very first item specified particularly was: (a) What constitutes an economic unit of production.

The Dean has reported the facts as he found them, and as they were supplied to him by the growers concerned, by industry officials and officials of the various government departments concerned with agriculture and marketing. His findings are facts which exist, not opinion or conjecture.

Mr. Blech and his friends have accused the Dean of failing to recommend any remedy for the troubles of the small grower. This statement is of course completely untrue, since the Dean makes very definite recommendations for financial assistance in his report, commencing on page 798. His suggestions for legislation on this matter, if carried out, would enable the small grower who wished to quit to find a buyer for his property more easily, or if he wished to continue it would be easier for him to acquire more orchard and operate a larger unit with less overhead.

The small grower is the object of a campaign just now by Mr. Blech and his followers in an attempt to persuade them to ignore the findings of the McPhee Royal Commission. He is being told that he should instead accept the findings of another commissioner of nearly thirty years ago who made only a rudimentary investigation into the industry and whose findings were completely unacceptable to the growers of that day. Considering the changes which have taken place in selling and marketing of all products in the last thirty years, how can anyone seriously suggest that this earlier and incomplete investigation has any value in the situation as it exists today? Growers are being asked to refrain from signing the three-party contract and agree to throw the selling of our products wide open. They are being asked to preside at their own funeral.

In case anyone is inclined to doubt that last statement, I would merely like to ask how many growers make a living in the state of Washington on seven and a half acres or less as compared to the 51 percent in the Okanagan and Similkameen? This campaign might suggest that orderly marketing and co-operation is all ready holding a substantial umbrella over the head of the small grower.

The findings of the McPhee Commission are facts, and his recommendations of changes and for required legislation are sound from the point of view of society as a whole. If the campaign of the Okanagan-Kootenay Association succeeds in deterring a majority of the growers not to sign the contract the implication will be of course that there is no confidence in the present organization or legislation. When this comes to the attention of the governments concerned, as of course it must, what chance will there be of obtaining the very legislation that Dean McPhee says we must have to carry on successful fruit-growing?

How many growers have bought or studied a copy of the McPhee report? It seems strange to me that a man, with thousands of dollars invested in an orchard, and half a lifetime spent in fruit-growing, should begrudge the $7.00 required to learn something of the factors which affect his livelihood. It is high time to think less of the past, and more of the future.

RETAIL HOURS

Sir: Every so often people who are interested only in starting an argument, question the rightness of this same retail store hours. This same media has been criticizing the past, of the retailer not being able to get together on store hours. Store hours have been set and adhered to in Penticton for approximately one and a half years, yet in this short time, three attempts have been made to disrupt them by the same people who criticized the retailers for lack of unity in the first place.

The actual fact is, with exception of a very small minority, the retailers and consumers in general are thoroughly satisfied that the present store hours are giving excellent service to our local customers twelve months of the year, and to our tourists in July and August.

Tourist statistics, I am sure, will show that 85 percent of our tourists are here in July and August, when families with children (which are the majority of Penticton's visitors) can holiday. The stores are open six days a week these two months.

It will be suggested that swing shifting of staffs be used on a six day week. This would increase cost to the retailer, and would also deprive store workers of two consecutive holidays, a privilege enjoyed by most other working groups. It would also result in poorer service to the shopping public at all hours of the day because of reduced staff, due to some of the regular staff being absent at all times.

Changing store hours is confusing to everyone, particularly to the shopping public. Our present hours are obviously fair to our local customers, to our visitors and a real boon to the salespeople. Let us keep it this way.

Yours truly,
A Retail Store Worker.

BERLIN AND CANADA

Sir: Considering that we are living in the age of the H-bomb, the whole situation would be ludicrous if it were not so tragic.

What are we supposed to think of American foreign policy and statesmanship when the U.S.A. had all the trump cards including the A-bomb at the end of the war, and look at the mess we are in today.

Anybody, even those only half informed, could not have been surprised about anything the Russians have done since that time but our diplomats act like "Alles in Wonderland." There is no sense in blaming the communists for everything under the sun.

"Unconditional surrender" was a nice sounding phrase but it cost the Allies a lot of lives as it prolonged the war unnecessarily. And trying to act from the position of strength, when we had it in 1945 and didn't know what to do with it is nonsense, if we are not willing or able to use that strength.

Up until 1952 we had Stalin's offer of free elections in the eastern zone of Germany and a reunified Germany, if Germany would follow a policy of neutrality, like Austria, it's independence being guaranteed by east and west. Public opinion in Germany at that time, at least until 1949, including Mr. Adenauer, was against re-arming and that would have reassured the Poles and Czechs against any German aggression who today look to Russia as the only safeguard for their independence, or what is left of it. But no, that would have been too simple. After all, what do we have diplomats for? And we have enough unemployment as it is.

Now we are told there is a puppet regime in Hankow. Why not find out how far that is true before we jump to conclusions? Of course, that would probably mean recognizing that government. But why not? They are the government for the time being. I wonder if we have not a lot of puppet governments in the west. I wonder, too, and I can't help thinking of Canada as what part of Mr. Adenauer plays in the U.S. foreign policy.

The trouble is that the Americans don't know how to play chess. They haven't advanced beyond checkers. The Russians know the game and are pretty good at it. At the same time, why should they not try brinkmanship for a change after watching Mr. Dulles the last few years? As we know, two can play the same game.

Canada was favorably impressed by the Polish proposal of disengagement in Central Europe and the banning of nuclear weapons in that area. Did we do anything about it? Apparently no, we didn't dare, as apparently Washington is holding the big stick. We are being asked to pull our own brigade out of Germany, they were put there only to make sure Canada would be in the war from the start if any war should break out.

One Hong Kong is enough in a lifetime, better bring the boys home where they are safer and let them guard the DEW line. Why should we pull American chestnuts out of the fire?

We can secure our own freedom, and probably peace too, by getting a few H-bombs and means to deliver them. As we can't get them from dear Uncle Sam — either we must be too irresponsible or not trustworthy — we should get them from Britain. As a member of the Commonwealth, we should be able to get them, especially if we offer cash.

If India can follow a policy of neutrality, so can we if we decide to do so. Or can we? Let's find out whether we are just puppets or can have a mind and a policy of our own.

Let the Germans settle their own affairs in what is left of Germany.

HANS FELD.

OTTAWA REPORT

Gas Prospects Part of 'Vision'

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

The Diefenbaker Government has a friendly eye on a little commercial "vision" which could turn our northern development into a "VISION" spelt with a dollar sign.

The big gamble of the hunt for oil and natural gas in our Arctic Islands is going to set our northern land afire, (and some of our aviation companies might well have had a little vision there themselves, to create "workhorse" planes for use in our Arctic, instead of belly-aching because the guardians of our tax dollars called halt to the construction of an obsolescent war plane.)

But the prospect of huge oil fields and gas wells, especially at a time when we already have gas coming out of our ears further south, has also raised the question: "Who will buy our gas?"

That in turn depends upon the answer to the question: "How will we deliver our gas?"

And the answer to that one should come easily to any Canadian, for it is simply "by freezing it."

It has been discovered that natural gas, when cooled to two hundred and fifty degrees below zero, turns into liquid form and shrinks to one six-hundredth of its normal gaseous volume. This appears to be the way in which we can deliver our gas to any market anywhere in the world.

A trip shipment of this super-cooled liquefied gas, or methane, has been despatched from a U.S. port to London, England. It can be extracted from the earth, processed and shipped to England for something less than 50 cents per thousand cubic feet. That is approximately one-third of the cost of artificial gas currently available in England. And it is slightly less than the 55 cents per thousand cubic feet which large industries would pay for Alberta natural gas supplied by Trans-Canada Pipe Line.

Thus it appears that our abundant natural fuel can be delivered almost anywhere in the world at a truly competitive price.

Some idea of what this might mean to our economy can be gleaned from the estimate that Japan, whose present population is 90,000,000 souls, might quickly build up to a consumption of 900 billion cubic feet of gas per year. That is four times Canada's current consumption; it is sixty times our total exports of gas piped to the United States during 1957.

That export to the U.S. earned us a paltry $2,000,000. In contrast, the export of gas to satisfy Japan's estimated demand would yield about $450,000,000 to Canada's gas fields and pipelines and shippers.

WORK FOR SHIPYARDS

And that raises another very attractive side to this picture. Special ships would probably be built to transport gas in its chilled form. Just as the big Greek shipping interests recently had the world's largest oil tanker built in Japan's shipyards, so we would hope that whoever undertook the shipment of Canada's natural gas overseas, would place orders for the special gas tankers in Canadian shipyards.

Bearing in mind the likely source of much of our exportable gas — namely deep inside our Arctic Circle — another exciting picture is conjured up.

Last summer, during a visit inside our Arctic Circle, I heard our government shipping experts talking about atomic-fuelled icebreakers and atomic submarine tankers. Such "Jules Verne" fantasy — for so it seemed at the time — did not make sense to my 1958 mind. But now it 1959, and big international companies are ready to spend millions of dollars looking for gas in our Arctic; so it must make sense for them to spend millions of dollars to get it out of our Arctic too. And that leads us straight to the reality of atomic-powered submarines towing strings of supersonic barges in the only navigable waters in the Arctic, namely the waters beneath the frozen surface of the Arctic Ocean, where navigation is cheaper and easier than on the surface of any ice-free ocean.

Well, that is the dream. And the idea of Canadian natural gas being sold in Europe and Asia and Africa — to our great financial benefit — does not seem too crazy to some of the imaginative trade and shipping officials in our Government. Such development is no more than part of "The Vision," which did not seem too crazy to millions of Canadian voters a year ago.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

Troops Vacate Dover Barracks

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent
For The Herald

LONDON — For the first time since the Ancient Britons resisted the invasion of their coast by Julius Caesar and his Roman legions in 55 B.C., Dover, the historic gateway to England, will be without a military garrison. When Caesar attempted to land at Dover with his army, he found the white cliffs so strongly defended by the inhabitants of the settlement that he was forced to withdraw and make another landing attempt at the nearby port of Deal. Ever since then, there has been a British garrison at Dover. It was one of the key points in the British coastal defence in the second world war.

In the near future, Connaught Barracks, in Dover will be vacated.

LETTERS

NO! AFRAID

Sir: In reply to the letter of "A New Canadian" in the Herald, in which he asks, "Doesn't anybody in town have the nerve to tell the mayor what is wrong with him?"

Yes Sir, I have nerve enough. My good friend Charlie Oliver is really not a bad sort of fellow. He means well, his intentions are good, but his excuses are rotten. Unfortunately every time he opens his mouth, he lets his brains fall out.

I am a hundred per cent in agreement with him on his water project. I think he thoroughly understands what he is talking about.

However, on other matters he seems to be just "hay-wire." I had better shut up or I will be getting suspended.

Hugh E. Gough.

ated by the Cameron Highlanders, the regiment now stationed there. No replacement has been named to follow the Camerons. The town will be without troops, but it is announced that the lack of a garrison there will be only temporary.

As soon as the Camerons move out of the barracks, the builders and their workmen will move in. Connaught Barracks, located on the heights above the town, are to be completely modernized, to make future garrisons more comfortable. When the renovations and alterations are completed the War Office will name the regiment to move in, and renew the continuity of a garrison at Dover.

Since the days of Caesar, there have always been troops at Dover. In spite of the growth of atomic weapons, it will still be the policy of the War Office to maintain a garrison there.

Practically every regiment in the British army has, down through the centuries, stood guard over the Dover gateway to England. Sometimes — as in the days of the Napoleonic wars, the garrison has consisted of as many as 15 regiments.

CHELSEA CHANGES

Another barracks which is due for remodelling and additions is the famous Chelsea Barracks in London. At a cost of £2,200,000, the War Office has decided to completely transform the 100-year old barracks, which were built shortly after the close of the Crimean War. The new buildings will be like an old soldier's dream of home. There will be a swimming pool, gymnasium, a Naffi and a junior ranks' club, and the most up-to-date dining rooms, messes and kitchens.

In the new scheme is provision for two tall blocks of married quarters, to house 104 soldiers' families in two and three bedroom flats.

BEST MAN Basil Dowd looks on as Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bartholet cut the wedding cake at the reception following their marriage in The Church of Christ the King at Oliver.

WIDE INTEREST

Oliver Church Setting for Bartholet-Gerstmeier Ceremony

OLIVER.—The Church of Christ the King was the scene of a pretty wedding uniting in marriage Dolores Gerstmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Erant of Oliver, and Bernard Bartholet of Fort Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bartholet of Fairview, Alberta.

Father Downey officiated for the afternoon ceremony on Saturday, February 21, when the bride was given in marriage by her father, Gilbert Erant. Basil Dowd of Fort Nelson acted as best man. Ushers were Robert Gerstmeier, brother of the bride, and Bob Bartholet, brother of the groom, both of Oliver.

QOWN OF LACE AND TAFFETA

The bride was charming in a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace over white taffeta. Dainty pearls and crystal beads accented the scalloped neckline. A crown of sequins and seed pearls held the fingertip veil. She carried a small bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley on a white ribbon. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Robert Bartholet, matron of honor, was attired in a ballerina-length gown of pink net over taffeta, with small pink veil. She carried pink roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Marion Gerstmeier, her sister, wore a pale blue chiffon gown with a blue veil and carried pink and white carnations, and Miss Dorothea Specht of Penicton wore a white and yellow nylon over taffeta gown with a yellow veil and carried yellow roses.

FLOWER GIRLS IN WHITE

The two little flower girls, Diane Selinger and Pattie Allan, were attired in white ballerina gowns. Diane, cousin of the bride, had matching yellow headress and flowers, while Pattie, the bride's godchild, carried pink flowers to match her pink headress.

The organist was Steve Eisenhut, who accompanied the soloist, Rudolph Guidi.

The reception was held at the Oliver United Church Hall, with dinner served by the Junior Circle to the many guests.

Basil Dowd proposed the toast to the bride, with the groom responding. Bob Bartholet gave the toast to the bridesmaids.

CALIFORNIA HONEYMOON

For her going away outfit, Mrs. Bartholet chose a beige wool tweed suit with matching accessories. The couple will make their home at Fort Nelson on their return from a honeymoon to Santa Barbara, California.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Nick Schuck of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. M. Schuck, Mr. and Mrs. Seb. Schuck, Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allan, Pattie and Sandy, all of Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. John Selinger, Diane and Monica from Summerland; Albert Erant of Naramata; Mr. and Mrs. E. annual Specht and Dorothea from Penicton; Basil Dowd and Clancy Pettit from Fort Nelson; and Mrs. Martin from Shawanavon, Sask.

Founder of WCTU Honored at Meeting

The life of Frances Willard, founder and organizer of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, was briefly reviewed, and the history of the temperance movement summarized in a paper read by Mrs. C. C. Coss at a meeting of the WCTU held here in the United Church hall.

In the article written by Mrs. Thomas Graham, the early "Crusade of Women" was pictured from its beginning in Hillsboro, Ohio, in 1873. Highlighting the story was the paragraph in which the author said, "Women from all denominations gathered at the Presbyterian Church; had prayer together, then marched two by two through the town, singing, 'Give to the Wind Thy Fears.' They stopped in front of the saloons, singing and praying, that the keepers might give up the soul destroying business. Wherever they were allowed they went inside and held their meetings. Within 50 days this crusade drove the saloons from 250 towns and villages," she concluded.

At a short business session preceding the program, discussions dealt chiefly with plans concerning the forthcoming Provincial meeting of the WCTU to be held in this city May 12-13. A bill of committee was appointed with Mrs. James Meldrum as convener. Representatives from each local church will comprise the committee.

The afternoon's proceedings opened with a devotional message by Lieut. Betty Kerr of the Salvation Army. A duet by Mrs. M. Wray and a prayer by Capt. Elsie Miller closed the devotional period.

Can't keep a good thing down! So here again is that perennial favorite, the shirt-waist dress. This time, it is glorified in black silk broadcloth. The pleats are clustered on each side of the front and the frock is worn over a full petticoat. Shown here with a front buckled waist, it also can be dressed down by substituting a black leather belt.

Soroptimist Bridge To be Held Friday

The growing popularity of the Soroptimist Club's bridge tournament is evident from the increasing number of players taking part each week. Last Friday night was no exception when 15 tables were in play. The "Phillips Team" composed of Jack and Charles Phillips, won the evening's prize with the high score of 5000.

Owing to the concert by Theodor Uppman on Wednesday night, the Soroptimist tournament has been postponed until Friday, 8 p.m., in the Incolia Hotel. New players are welcome but will only be eligible for the evening's prize.

Record Number at Summerland Banquet

SUMMERLAND—Two hundred and seventy-five mothers, daughters and guests, had supper together at the annual Guide banquet held on Friday evening in the Youth Centre. This is the largest banquet to have been held by the Guide family in Summerland and marked a highlight in Guiding here.

Mrs. W. H. Durick, fairy godmother, badge secretary, and division secretary, who has given in many delightful ways to the movement here and in the south Okanagan was honored by division Guides and Brownies and by Summerland LA when she was presented with a gold "Thank-you" badge by Trudy Schwab. This award is given rarely and represents outstanding service.

PAPE'S CUP AWARD

Mona Inaba was presented with the Pape's Cup awarded annually to an outstanding Summerland Guide. Capt. Enid Maynard made this presentation.

Warrant badges were presented to Guide Captain, Mrs. Sandy Fenwick, and to Brown Owl, Mrs. W. G. Evans.

Tables were arranged with spring flowers, flags, and figures of Brownies. As the supper beved through the help of many Summerland Kiwanis Club donated material and built a kitchen at the site. A boat and other necessary equipment has been donated.

NEW CAMP

Mrs. Blagborne spoke of the camp begun a year ago at a cost of $6,000 and now a reality. Already $3,400 has been raised through Guide and Brownie projects, donations from private citizens and local organizations. Last summer the camp provided a camping and training for a number of groups. She mentioned its use to future Guides and told the story of how a flagpole was provided through the help of many Summerland Kiwanis Club donated material and built a kitchen at the site. A boat and other necessary equipment has been donated.

Carleton McNaughton of Oliver, scout commissioner, brought greetings from Scouts. Mr. McNaughton spoke first in a serious vein asking that every Guide camp be built around a sanctuary and that the knowledge of the presence of God be part of every project. He spoke of the great value of conservation saying, "Life is the most precious thing in life."

Later he told intriguing stories of the animals at his Grey Sage Museum. He brought some owls and some white mice which delighted the Brownies who were allowed to hold them.

Anne McLachlan thanked the speaker.

HEAD TABLE GUESTS

At the head table were Mrs. R. S. McLachlan; Mrs. E. T. Blagborne, division commissioner; Mrs. Sandy Fenwick, Capt. 1st Co.; Miss Enid Maynard, Capt. 2nd Co.; Mrs. Gordon Whitaker, Miss Diane Young, Lt. 1st Co.; Mrs. James Onley, Lt. 2nd Co.; Brown Owls, Mrs. L. Lopatecki, Mrs. W. G. Evans, Mrs. George Ryman, of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Packs, respectively, and Mrs. J. L. Mason, Tawny Owl of the 1st Pack.

Other Tawny Owls, Mrs. L. Charles and Mrs. Eric Tait, and the district commissioner, Mrs. Nora Kopp, Peachland, were unable to attend. Others were Mr. and Mrs. Carleton McNaughton of Oliver, the former was guest speaker; Reeve and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ritchie, the former, president of Kiwanis Club; Mrs. Charles Letts, representing the Rebekah Lodge; Leonard Shannon, president of the LA to the Legion; Rev. and Mrs. C. O. Richmond; Mrs. J. E. O'Mahoney and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh. Mrs. F. V. Harrison, former division commissioner, was unable to be present. Packes were Carol Gowing, Janet Storey, Mona Inaba, Beverley Dulick, Margaret White, Pat Dunlop and Mrs. W. J. Thomson, assistant to the 3rd Brownie Pack.

Judy Hockley proposed a toast to the mothers with reply by Mrs. H. L. Wilson. Mona Inaba gave the toast to Guiding, reply by Capt. Mrs. Sandy Fenwick; to the community, Donna Powell, reply Reeve Atkinson.

Guide Margaret MacLean presented a corsage to Mrs. McNaughton.

Mrs. McLachlan expressed appreciation of the devotion of the Guides saying that she believed Guide training develops higher standards of citizenship. She asked more mothers to attend the LA and mentioned that $2 per Guide and Brownie, partly to be earned by the girls, is the year's project for the new campsite on Okanagan Lake.

Mrs. Hazel Merritt, a missionary from Bolivia, South America, was a guest with Rev. and Mrs. Gordon S. Vincent while in Penicton to address the Sunday morning congregation at the First Baptist Church, Miss Merritt, who filled other speaking engagements while here for the weekend left last evening to return to her home at Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brock with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brock, arrived home Saturday after spending the past month on a motor trip south to Mexico. They visited at a number of resort centres en route south via the coast, spending some time in San Jose, California, with Miss Joyce Brock, and travelled home from Mexico over the interior highway.

Mrs. C. W. Sutherland has returned from the Queen Charlotte Islands where she spent a two-week vacation with relatives and friends.

The Wo-Ho Circle of the Penicton United Church Women's Federation will meet tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. C. N. Richardson, 455 Truro Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Crawley, Evans Loop, have returned to Penicton after spending the past several weeks visiting in Vancouver.

Forty members of the Penicton Ladies' Curling Club participated in the Summerland club's annual bonspiel held during the weekend. Rinks from Penicton were skipped by Phyllis Asay, Esther Carse, Mary Carberry, Eda Dagg, Charlene Enns, Mabel

Red Cross Workers Make Many Quilts, Knitted Garments

Workroom reports released by the Penicton and District branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society testify to the untiring efforts of the many volunteers who responded to a recent appeal for additional sewers and knitters to replenish depleted stocks at distributional headquarters. Owing to an unprecedented number of fires in B.C., the demand for clothing and bedding has been unusually large, the past few months.

This assistance program has included a number of Okanagan residents. The latest to receive Red Cross help in this district are Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLeod whose home and contents were entirely destroyed by a fire on February 22. The society has authorized a donation of $25 and a gift of quilts to the family of four.

Reports for January disclose that 268 articles were shipped to Vancouver warehouses from this district. Of this number, 22 were quilts and 42 were knitted garments including sweaters, socks and infants' wear. February shipments were slightly lower with a total of 214 from this centre. In this latter were 25 quilts and 41 knitted articles.

Volunteer workers at the Friday meetings in the Health Centre on Eckhardt Avenue have averaged 30 each week. Tea has been served to the volunteers by the Penicton United Church Women's Federation, the Catholic Women's League and representatives from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Those interested in assisting with the Red Cross sewing and knitting program are invited to attend the Friday meetings by work chairman Mrs. W. S. Reed.

One positively sure way to lose friends is to tell them something for their own good.

Curling Championships Reaches Third Round

By JOHN YORSTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Strong entries from Saskatchewan and Manitoba were favored to keep their unbeaten records through the third round of the Canadian curling championships this morning, but some of the Western giants must fall in the fourth round this afternoon.

That one matches Saskatchewan against unbeaten Alberta, which drew a third-round bye, and Manitoba against British Columbia.

The three prairie provinces completed Monday's two opening rounds with identical 2-0 win-loss records, generally handling their eastern opposition with ease.

B.C. UNKNOWN QUANTITY

British Columbia, after a 12-10, extra-end victory over Nova Scotia in the first round, had a bye in the second round Monday night. The West Coast quartet—formed two weeks before the British Columbia championships—remained an unknown quantity after its narrow squeak over A. D. Forbes' Nova Scotia entry, oldest of the 11 teams.

Herb Olson's Edmonton rink gave Alberta a smashing 13-5 second-round win over Prince Edward Island, which drew a bye in the opening round. Saskatchewan's entry, skipped by Ernie Richardson, had an easy time with inexperienced Newfoundland, winning 18-9.

Manitoba built up a strong 13-5 lead after nine ends, then hung on desperately as Fred Sellers' Ontario squad fought back with seven points in the last three ends, but lost 13-12.

In the third round Saskatchewan was pitted against Prince Edward Island, which drew a bye in the opening round. Nova Scotia, British Columbia against Quebec; Ontario against Northern Ontario and Newfoundland against New Brunswick. Alberta drew a bye.

COMPLAIN OF ICE

The curlers had trouble Monday with sticky ice that made some shots virtually impossible. They had to put twice the normal effort into a shot to make it reach the house. They also reported faults over the whole ice surface made shots weave erratically.

In the afternoon session, the Quebec coliseum was 60 degrees above zero and most of the 40 players doffed their woollen jackets in shirtsleeves.

In other second-round games Nova Scotia topped Quebec 10-8 to post a 1-1 record while handing Jack Bergman's Montreal-Quebec rink its second loss.

New Brunswick, with one point in each of the last three ends, squeezed past Northern Ontario 10-9, giving the northerners their second loss in two starts.

Both Alberta and Saskatchewan pulled away from their opponents after the middle rounds. Saskatchewan's four Richardson sons played quickly and steadily, piling up three or more points in four ends.

P.E.I. STRONG

Alberta was never able to get more than two points from Charlie Macdonald's Prince Edward Island team. The Islanders knocked out most of Alberta's counting shots but were never given a chance to put a guard on their own counters.

Alberta's first-round victory was also by a 13-5 score, over Newfoundland's Bud Fisher.

The Richardsons had an easy time in their first round match.

They walloped Northern Ontario 17-8, coming from a 4-4 tie after three ends to a 13-5 lead after nine.

Manitoba's Dr. Jack Bird scored his first victory by licking the surprisingly strong New Brunswick entry 13-9, and Ontario handed Quebec the first of its two losses 11-6 in the other first-round games.

Penticton Rink Wins S'land Ladies' Spiel

In the Summerland Curling Club's Annual Ladies' Bonselpiel, top honors were taken by the Ferguson rink of Penticton, second in the A event was Brown of ICC; third Eyre of Summerland and fourth Croft of Summerland.

In B event it was Tilbe, Summerland, Tyler, Penticton, Assay, Penticton and Gove of Summerland.

C event saw Webb of Penticton take first, followed by McInnis, Summerland, Cranna, ICC and Topham of Peachland.

D event went to Grondlund, Summerland, Carse of Penticton was second, Kennedy, Summerland, third and Beggs of Summerland fourth.

There were 26 rinks entered in the annual event, 13 from Summerland, 10 from Penticton, two from ICC and one from Peachland.

SUMMERLAND—Summerland high school senior girls' basketball team is leaving this week for the annual B.C. high schools' tournament in Vancouver. They are the winners in the central and southern zone playoffs and one of two teams in the interior to go to the coast. The other is from Salmon Arm high school.

Staff member and coach, Miss Doreen Flett will accompany them as parent chaperone, and Donna McAdam is captain and business manager.

Members of the team are Louise Shannon, Carole Hackman, Mitzi Jomori, Eleanor Raincock, Vicki Cuthbert, Phyllis Young, Emilie Bonthous, Grace Johnston, Rosalie Young, and Rosemary Robertson.

ALL-STARS TONIGHT

Warriors Move Up Stop Stamps 7-5

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Winnipeg Warriors continued to skip up the prairie division ladder Monday night with a convincing 7-5 victory over Calgary Stampede at the Western Hockey League prepared for its all-star game tonight.

Winnipeg moved into second place, one point ahead of the faltering Edmonton Flyers. It was the biggest scoring spree against first-place Stampede this season.

Tonight the players' fund gets a boost from the second annual all-star contest at Vancouver, between prairie and coast divisions. The game, which netted $2,000 last year in Calgary, is expected to draw a sellout crowd in the 5,500-seat Vancouver forum.

PRAIRIE FAVORED

The prairie team, with six Stampede players in the 15-man lineup, is favored in the contest. Winnipeg's win Monday was only its third in 11 starts against its prairie opponents. The Warriors won the first meeting with the Stamps and won last Friday's encounter.

Four Winnipeg goals were shared by Billy Mosienko and Ray Brunel, with singles by Red Johansen, Bob Chrystal and Gerry Brisson.

Lou Jankowski, tallying his 43rd and 44th counters for Calgary this season, led Stampede's singles were scored by Murray Wilkie, Billy Hay and Ron Leopold.

Referee Al Paradise called a total of 17 penalties, nine of them against Warriors. The Stamps scored on three occasions from the resulting power play, with Winnipeg taking similar advantage twice.

There is no regular WHL play tonight. Directors of the nine league clubs will meet in Vancouver as part of the all-star proceedings.

MOORE STILL LEADS

NHL Scoring Race Fast and Furious

MONTREAL (CP)—It looks as if a superhuman effort will be needed to overhaul the leaders in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Last week for example, runners-up Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings and Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens collected six and five points respectively but were unable to close the gap, NHL statistics released today show.

For Canadiens' Dickie Moore and New York Rangers' Andy Bathgate produced five and six points themselves to stay on top.

LITZ DROPS BACK

Only Eddie Litzenberger, Chicago Black Hawks' big right-winger, failed to match the pace. Litzenberger picked up only three points during the week and fell from second place to third.

Moore's performance raised his 60-game total to 74 points—3 goals and 41 assists. Bathgate's 61-game total reads 33 goals, 40 assists, 73 points.

Litzenberger has 71 points on 29 goals and 42 assists. Next in line is the great Howe with a 69-point total on 27 goals and 42 assists and then Beliveau with 68 points on 33 goals and 35 assists.

Beliveau's four goals during the week jumped him into a tie in the goal scoring department with Moore and Bathgate.

MOST ASSISTS

The lead in the assists department is still held by Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal, who has 44. He stands sixth in the scoring race with 66 points.

There's a long drop from sixth place to seventh, held by two centres who have 54 points each. Tod Sloan of Chicago gets precedence over New York's Red Sullivan by virtue of his 25 goals to Sullivan's 18. Sloan has 29 assists; The Ranger captain 36.

Montreal's Jacques Plante maintained his commanding lead in the race for the Vezina Trophy, with a 2.10 goals-against average while Glenn Hall of Chicago, his closest competitor, has a 2.32 average. Plante also leads in shutouts with nine.

Robinson to Fight Archie Moore Next

By JOHN FARROW

LONDON (AP) — The fight talk in Britain today was about world middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson—and Sugar Ray's manager George Gainford—was doing most of the talking.

Gainford has the dollar trail all worked out for the 38-year-old Robinson, rated one of the finest pound-for-pound fighters in the history of the prize fight business.

"Everything has been arranged in principle for Archie Moore to defend his world light heavyweight title against Robinson in June," Gainford said.

That killed once and for all the talk that Moore was ready to come over to Britain in June for a fight against British heavyweight champion Henry Cooper. Moore also had been expected to sign for a rematch with Yvon Durelle of Baie St. Anne, N.B., the British Empire and Canadian light heavyweight titleholder. Moore knocked out Durelle in the 12th round of their fight in Montreal in December.

"Only the question of the promoter and the venue for the Moore-Robinson fight remains to be settled," Gainford said. "And that will provide no difficulty."

More Research In Canada Urged

TORONTO (CP) — A federal government scientist said today unless Canada improves its search potential it cannot maintain its high standard of living.

Dr. W. E. van Steenburg, director general of scientific services of the department of mines and technical surveys, said the relationship between the laboratory and the standard of living is closer than most people realize.

He told the joint annual meetings of the Prospectors and Developers Association, the Geological Association of Canada and Mineralogical Association of Canada, that more long-term research is needed.

There was not enough research in Canada by government and industry. What there was was applied or "stop-gap" research to meet day-to-day needs.

NEED BASIC RESEARCH

But while the need for applied research was sometimes desperate there was even greater need for basic research.

There was a desperate need now for new materials which would withstand the stresses and temperatures generated by superconducting and hypersonic flight. To meet the need attempts were being made to improve existing alloys.

"What seems to be needed is an entirely new approach to the problem that would ultimately result in a hitherto unknown breakthrough."

Major advances could not be made under the pressure of immediate need.

Dr. van Steenburg suggested industry should take over more applied research or arrange to have it done by provincial governments while the federal government and universities concentrate more on fundamental re-

Nelson Takes Lead In WIHL Playoffs

NELSON (CP)—Nelson Maple Leafs gained a one-point lead in the Western International Hockey League's round-robin series Monday night by edging Trail Smoke Eaters 3-2 here.

It was one of the roughest games seen here this season. Referees Bob Maker of Kettle Falls, Wash., and Johnny Ursaki of Spokane were kept busy maintaining control.

Nelson scorers in the hard checking game were Mickey Maglio, Lee Hyssop and Howie Hornby. Trail's goals came from Warren Hicks and Don Fletcher.

Trail picked up the only goal of the first period on Hick's sharpshooting.

The Smokeies sought to protect the lead in the second, but the Leafs tied it up early when Maglio took a double relay from Bill Thieman and Hyssop. A few minutes later Maglio caught the puck and relayed it to Thieman, who passed it to cagy veteran Hyssop. Hyssop picked the lower right hand corner to beat Seth Martin and put Leafs ahead 2-1 at the 11:50 mark.

Early in the third, the Smokeies came through with their last goal as Fletcher drove in a long one from the blue line.

Hornby watched Nelson's winning goal at 13:45 of the stormy third period, when players were parading into the penalty box.

At the opening of the third period, league president Don Adams of Rossland presented Nelson captain Mickey Maglio with the WIHL trophy, recognizing Nelson's victory in regular season play, which ended last week.

The game saw high sticking and roughing in the second period. In the third, playing coach Ollie Dorohoy of the Leafs was sent off with a minor and misconduct for harsh words with the officials.

Nelson goalie George Wood got a penalty for roughing, which was served by Carl Foster, and there were four other minor penalties in the frame.

Reds Remove Some Road Blocks to Berlin Settlement

By WARREN ROGERS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials here said today Russia has removed some but by no means all of the road blocks to a negotiated settlement of the German crisis.

These officials cautiously welcomed a new Soviet note accepting the West's proposal to hold a foreign ministers conference on the critical issues. But examination of the 10-page note, received here Monday, turned up several problems.

They saw no concession: Krenlin agreement to a foreign ministers meeting at Geneva or Vienna next month.

STAND REVERSED
Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said in a Moscow speech last Tuesday a foreign ministers meeting would be a waste of time. He suggested a summit conference. Now, the Russians are agreeing to a foreign ministers meeting, limited to three months. A summit conference is likely to be held later.

American officials also saw a repetition of a previous Soviet stand—that German reunification is a matter for the East and West Germans, and nobody else, to settle.

Some other demands and preconditions in the note would have to be explored in requests to Moscow for clarification.

Pen-Hi Lakers Must Win Friday Night

Penticton High School Lakers have a two-point deficit to overcome Friday night when they meet Kamloops High basketball squad to decide who represents the southern Okanagan in the B.C. high school basketball championships this month.

Kamloops edged the Lakers 60-58 last Saturday in the first of two total-point playoff matches. With the benches full of their own rosters, the local boys hope to wipe out those two points in short order.

Provincial tournament will be held in U.E.C. Memorial Gym March 10 to 14.

Penticton has already eliminated Kelowna, and have racked up a record of 15 wins to 6 losses this season.

The Lakers will be relying on high-scoring Larry Hale to repeat his performance of last Saturday, when he plopped 20 points through the twine. Other mainstays in the Kamloops game were Richard Skirmer and Lee Day with 10 each.

Last year Penticton placed second in the Summerland Tournament, beaten out by Oliver.

First whistle blows at 8 p.m. in Penticton High gym on Friday. Tickets are 50 cents for adults and a quarter for students.

Rookie Leads AHL Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—Ken Schinkel of Springfield Indians picked up six points in the American Hockey League last week but rookie Bill Hicke of Rochester Americans also got six to maintain his 12-point lead in individual scoring.

They are tied for the league leadership in goals with 39 apiece. Hicke has 49 assists for a total of 88 points while Schinkel's 37 assists give him 76 points.

There was a tie for third with Rochester's Gary Aldcorn and Harry Pridhny of Springfield each having 73 points. One more than Buffalo Bisons' Bill Sweeney.

Hicke tied an eight-year-old league record by tallying at least one goal in 11 straight games. Fred Glover, now of Cleveland Barons, set the mark with Indianapolis in 1950-51.

Bobby Perreault of Heshey Bears still leads the goalies with an average of 2.64 per game and six shutouts.

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats have signed fullback

Gary Morrall, twin brother of Chuck Morrall of Ottawa Rough Riders, for the 1959 big four football season.

Morrall, a 205-pounder, is a former teammate of Tipton star Gerry McDougall. They played junior college football at Long Beach, Calif. Morrall, 21, went on to Washington State University.

TORONTO CALL ALDCORN
TORONTO (CP) — Gary Aldcorn, leftwinger with Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League, has been recalled by Toronto Maple Leafs as an emergency replacement.

He will play for the National Hockey League team against Chicago Black Hawks Wednesday or against Montreal Canadiens Thursday if Dick Duff or Gerry Ehman can't turn out.

Duff suffered a charleyhorse during the weekend and Ehman pulled a groin.

BASEBALL NOTES

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—If the Ill could recapture health by returning to the scenes they relish most, Roy Campanella would be a well man today.

The former great Dodger catcher is back in baseball country talking the game and watching it and giving no hint of the longing he must have to play it again.

Campanella, still confined to a wheelchair as a result of his paralyzing auto accident early last year, hadn't been here a half-hour when he was telling stories and trading gags with his old teammates.

"I love baseball," he said Monday. "Just to be around the boys is wonderful."

Campy has started taking on some of the worries of the Los Angeles club. One trouble is that nobody knows who's going to play catcher.

"Look, I got to help John Roseboro find himself back there in a hurry. Like everybody knows, he has all the tools to be a good major league catcher. I know I won't be able to tell him nothing he ain't already been told. But maybe he'll believe me."

NEW YORK (AP)—Temper-

mental Billy Loes and Gene Conley today were running neck and neck for the designation of major league baseball's No. 1 bad boy.

Loes, the only known ball-player to claim he lost a ground ball in the sun, ended another brief feud with Baltimore Orioles Monday and signed his 1959 contract.

CONLEY BLASTED

While Loes expressed dissatisfaction with the Orioles, Conley drew a blast from Birdie Tebbets, Milwaukee's executive vice-president.

Conley has been playing professional basketball with Boston and has refused to leave the Celtics to report for spring training. The Braves pitcher, who had a .06 mark last year, has insisted he will not report before the basketball season ends.

Said Tebbets: "When we gave Conley permission to play basketball it was with the understanding that he would quit that sport by Feb. 15. Now he feels he owes an obligation to the Celtics. He must feel no obligation to us."

Canadian Reliance on U.S. for Defence Hit

OTTAWA (CP) — The opposition parties have charged the government with eroding Canadian sovereignty with an air defence policy which makes the country apparently dependent on U.S. equipment, technology and supply for defence.

But the government maintained in the Commons Monday that air defence policy is only part of a flexible defence system that makes it possible to get equal air defence for a fraction of the cost of an air force equipped with Canadian-produced supersonic jets such as the CF-105 Arrow.

The defence debate developed out of two opposition non-confidence motions presented during a supply debate. They will come to a vote tonight.

MAKESHIFT EXPEDIENT
Opposition Leader Pearson said the government substituted a makeshift expedient for policy when it cancelled the Arrow development program at Malton, Ont. It decided to retain the obsolete CF-100 and introduce Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles paid for by the U.S.

Coupled with his criticism was the charge that Prime Minister Diefenbaker was unfair in blaming A. V. Roe (Canada) Limited for laying off 14,000 employees at Malton Feb. 20. More than 2,000 have since returned to work.

Defence Minister Pearson said rapid scientific development made flexibility a necessity in Canadian defence. The government's policy was a continuation of Liberal policy — to support NATO's balanced and integrated defence supplied by members according to resources. Periodic changes had to be considered in the type of force Canada could contribute.

Mr. Pearson's non-confidence motion said "the prolonged delay of the government in determining air defence policy and planning in co-operation with our allies is preventing the effective use of Canada's defence production facilities and manpower."

SOVEREIGNTY LOST
CCF spokesman Harold Winch, Vancouver East, added an amendment saying the delay "is a 185-years supply of a single ammunition item. In another case there was only one truck carburetor in stock for an entire army."

He argued that because Canada isn't going to produce manned interceptors for defence and will rely on U.S.-produced missiles without signs of producing them in this country "we have handed over a great part of Canadian sovereignty to the United States."

Mr. Pearson said it is no discredit to any government if they are cautious at times and want to be perfectly certain before they take some particular line of action, and if they try to be as near certain as possible that that action is right.

The CF-100 and Bomarc missiles which will form the basis of Canadian air defence is intended for defence against the manned bomber which is a diminishing threat. This is being done at a considerably smaller cost than the Arrow.

Mr. Pearson said that instead of rushing into the NORAD — North American Air Defence — agreement, the government should have used the U.S. desire to get it signed as a lever to ensure "that Canada's legitimate rights in all aspects of continental defence should be safeguarded."

"We should have linked the signing of the NORAD agreement with suitable and equitable arrangements for pooling defence production and developing defence resources."

U.S. Arms Aid Waste 'Shocking'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House of Representatives subcommittee lifted the secrecy veil from U.S. overseas arms aid slightly to report it was disturbed and shocked at waste it found.

The unanimous report by the foreign aid watchdog group headed by Representative Thomas F. Morgan (Dem. Pa.) reported the group discovered one U.S. ally was building airplanes for the personal use of its officers with facilities the U.S. had provided to keep up military equipment.

Other findings:
A foreign motor pool got enough tires out of U.S. aid in one year to put 44 tires on each truck.

American materials intended for military construction were used to build apartment houses for foreign civilians.

Poor record - keeping by natives who knew little English produced stock record cards which read "for so many cases of this side up."

One U.S.-aided installation had a 185-years supply of a single ammunition item. In another case there was only one truck carburetor in stock for an entire army.

The violence was the worst since the strike began Dec. 20, when 74 CBC television producers walked out to back demands for recognition of their Association des Radiotelevisiers as bargaining agent. They wanted to affiliate with the CCCL. The CBC refused permission on the grounds that its part of management the producers were not eligible to affiliate.

A tentative agreement between the CBC and the producers was reached in Ottawa Feb. 9, but the affiliation clause caused a breakdown in negotiations Monday when final signing appeared imminent.

Meanwhile, the five CBC Montreal unions whose members refused to cross the producers picket lines reached grounds for returning to work, and announced themselves ready to go back as soon as the producers removed their pickets.

Monday's violence followed a meeting of producers and sympathizers attended by an estimated 2,000 persons who endorsed the producers' action in breaking off negotiations.

U.S. Forces Ready to Act In Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military forces are ready to back up President Eisenhower's avowed determination to stand fast on Western rights in Berlin, Defence Secretary Neil McElroy told Congress Monday.

"We think we have a definite offensive superiority over the Russians at this time," McElroy said in discussing the situation with the House of Representatives space committee.

While voicing doubt the Russians want to start a war, he told the congressmen "we are prepared to meet various stages of the Berlin situation as it develops." Then he added:

"We are prepared to make good on the statement of the president that we will not yield one inch on our rights in Berlin."

MOBILIZATION NOT NEEDED
McElroy said there are no plans now to mobilize because of the crisis over Russia's campaign to force the Allied powers out of Berlin, 10 miles inside Communist territory.

McElroy's remarks on U.S. readiness came while he and the space committee members were talking over U.S. policy on striking the first blow in a war.

TWO CHURCHES FILLED FOR MASS FUNERAL

Arena Dead Mourned

LISTOWEL, Ont. (CP) — Spring-like weather touched this town Monday but found no response in the hearts of the people.

It was funeral day for Listowel.

Sunshine and a warm breeze bathed the two hilltop churches in a brilliant glow, the first break in a week of sullen stormy skies. Yet hundreds of silent townsfolk walked through the slush and snow - water rivulets with heads bowed and eyes dull with grief.

Inside the Listowel United Church seven small caskets of grey metal held the crushed bodies of seven boys who died Saturday at 9:28 a.m. when the massive roof of Memorial Arena crashed down on a pee-wee league hockey game. Beside them a larger one of oak enclosed the body of Kenneth McLeod, the town recreation director who was refereeing the game.

CROWD TO CHURCH
While the tolling church bell timed the plodding steps of the mourners, more than 800 relatives and friends crowded into the white wooden church.

A block away in Knox Presbyterian Church the public overflowed 800 seats to hear the public address system which carried the music and words of the family service from Listowel United. Many had to stand outside to hear the quiet words of Rev. J. D. Martin, the United Church rector.

"Our community has been struck a severe blow," Mr. Martin said.

He spoke of the "loss of precious lives" in the sudden tragedy which had been felt by all of the town's 3,500 people.

VALUABLE LEADER LOST

Ken McLeod, he said, had been a valuable leader in the community. "He was loved by our children and taught them the skills of the games and the spirit of fair play."

The seven boys — Ricky Kaufman, 10; Keith Wight, 10; Jimmy Hastings, 11; Ken Hyman, 11; Barry Smith, 11; Bryan See-haver, 12, and Mel Rheubottom, 12 — were "just beginning to act like little men."

Mr. Martin then cautioned against bitterness, saying "everything that happens fits into the pattern for good."

At the moment it was impossible to see this in its fullness. But it would develop, perhaps in more careful leadership and the provision of safer places for children to play.

Insurance Fund for Unemployed Shrinking

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's unemployment insurance fund is shrinking rapidly as mounting numbers of jobless drain its multi-million-dollar bankroll.

In two years of recession the fund has skidded by $300,000,000 so that it now stands at just about two-thirds of the record $926,777,000 that was in it at the end of 1956.

In the first nine months of the current fiscal year ending March 31, the shrinkage has been about $130,000,000 under the stress of the heaviest post-war unemployment for this time of year.

The backlog in the fund at the year-end was $625,300,000, the latest available figure. It will be much less before the annual period of seasonal unemployment ends in the spring.

RECORD OF GROWTH

Except for one lesser period of decrease between 1954 and 1955, the record of the fund has been one of steady growth since the unemployment insurance act went into effect in 1941.

But while the fund moved along placidly in its initial years, the legislation creating it had a rocky road before getting on the statute books.

Initially, the Bennett Conservative government passed unemployment insurance legislation in the depression year of 1935.

This was thrown out along with other social legislation by the Privy Council — then the highest tribunal for Canadian litigation — on the ground that it infringed upon a provincial field.

Subsequently, Mackenzie King's Liberal government got the provinces to cede their rights in this area, and in 1940 Parliament adopted legislation to go into effect July 1, 1941.

At the outset, it was intended as pure insurance against the risk of unforeseen short-term unemployment.

For instance, there was no provision for seasonal workers whose jobs normally folded up at certain periods of the year.

But over the years that concept has gradually changed. Now, coverage takes in such originally - excluded groups as stevedoring, water and air transport, lumbering and logging and fishermen. All commercial fishermen are included, regardless of earnings.

Seasonal benefits were instituted to take care of persons unemployed during the winter and whose normal periods for drawing benefits had been tied up.

The seasonal period started off at three months and now has been enlarged to 5½ months, from Dec. 1 to May 15. In last year's period or record post-war unemployment, a special one-year extension stretched the expiry date to the end of June.

BIG DISBURSEMENT

About $100,000,000 was paid out in seasonal benefits alone last winter and spring.

Present levels are a maximum $120 a week for employee-employer contributions with top benefits at $23 and $30.

These benefits may be drawn for a maximum of 36 weeks regular and 25 weeks seasonal.

To qualify for regular benefits, a worker must have contributed for 30 weeks out of the last 104, eight of which must have been in the previous 52 weeks or since his last claim began, whichever is the shorter.

To draw seasonal benefits, he must have made 14 weekly contributions since the previous March or have had a regular period end since March.

Seasonal benefits originally amounted to only 80 per cent of the regular weekly rate. They were brought even in 1955 and stayed there.

United Appeal Drives Hitting Their Targets

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Against a background of increasing fund objectives, United Appeal and Community Chest drives in Canada seem to be hitting their campaign targets, with a few exceptions. Those that slip behind the announced objective usually come pretty close.

As the population increases and cities expand, new agencies are bidding for the welfare dollar against those previously in the field. A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press indicates that whether this will affect future fund-raising achievements will depend largely on organization, publicity and such developments as payroll contributions.

The years 1955 and 1956 were banner ones for federated fund raising. All Canadian cities combined raised more than 100 per cent of their combined objectives in those years. It dropped to 94 per cent in 1957, and was back up to 97.7 per cent in 1958.

CONSISTENT RISE

Nevertheless, since 1949 there has been a consistent rise in the percentage increase in collections as compared with the previous year. For example, the 1949 collections totalled 106.5 per cent of those in 1948. In 1954 this figure was 115.9, and in 1956 it was 132.5. The 1958 receipts were more than 105 per cent of 1957.

Per capita giving also was on the upswing, in terms of the amount given among the population of centres canvassed - not in terms of the amount given by the total population of Canada.

In 1949, per capita givings stood at $2.02, rising to $2.49 in 1954, to $2.94 in 1956 and $3.17 in 1958.

These figures can be deceptive. Campaign officials believe they can be greatly increased by reaching more people, by making it easier for people to contribute and by impressing more effectively on people the importance of the work done by the participating agencies of the Community Chest or the United Appeal.

PLANNING VITAL

The Community Funds and Councils division of the Canadian Welfare Council says thorough organization of the campaign based on early planning is vital to success.

The public must be kept well-informed on the purposes of the appeal and the agencies that make it up. The base of support for the federated fund must be broadened by reaching an increasing number of citizens through publicity and canvassers.

Generous gifts by corporations make up an important part of the fund total. The more recent use of payroll plans has helped increase individual giving because the giver can spread his donations over the whole year.

Delegates to the recent Community Funds and Councils meeting at Ottawa heard a suggestion that all health appeals should be excluded from federated fund campaigns and become government-supported. But the proposal had little support.

Gordon McClary, campaign chairman of Edmonton's community chests and councils, said no Canadians should be suffering because of lack of funds for research on such diseases as cancer and heart ailments. But such appeals should be government-supported, he said.

Soviet Leader Pleased With Kremlin Talks

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev says that he is pleased with his talks with Prime Minister Macmillan. As a result, he said, both Britain and Russia are better prepared for an attempt to end the cold war.

Khrushchev spoke at Soviet government reception winding up Macmillan's 10-day visit to the Soviet Union. The British leader and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd return to London Tuesday.

Moscow radio quoted the Soviet premier as saying:

"We are grateful to you, Mr. Prime Minister, for your decision to visit the Soviet Union in spite of certain prejudices in your country and in the countries of your allies concerning your trip and the usefulness of meetings with Soviet leading statesmen."

"It is good that you have risen above these prejudices, that you are guided by good intentions to find a way to such decisions as would clear the atmosphere and prevent the possibility of another war."

"We are pleased with the exchange of opinions that has taken place. Our talks passed in varying atmospheres and at different temperatures. However, during these years there has accumulated in our relations a sediment, as it were, so that it would be unrealistic to expect that it would be possible to clear the atmosphere without any great effort."

Ustinov Displays Many Talents

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Ustinov can write short stories, novels and hit plays. He has been a sensation with his drolleries in TV talk shows. He can act up a storm in comedy or drama and direct films and plays in which he stars.

In this age of specialization, this makes him somewhat of a freak. And he resents it.

"I find a discouraging trend in the legal forms for entering countries and other governmental procedures," he observed. "The space for the name is getting bigger — in case your name is Worthington Farthington Banker or some sort. But the space for occupation is getting smaller all the time."

ONE THING ONLY
"Today you're supposed to do one thing only, not a lot of things. What would happen if Leonardo da Vinci were alive today? Not that I'm comparing anyone today with him, because

Michigan Keeps Tight Hold on Its Purse Strings

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Much like the average householder caught in a financial pinch, the State of Michigan is keeping a tight-fisted watch on its purse strings.

Michigan faces a fiscal deficit estimated at $115,000,000 by June 30. The state legislature, seeking to get the state back on its economic feet, has geared proposals for a graduated state income tax, an increase in the state sales tax, an increase in the state debt ceiling or a mortgaging of the state's $50,000,000 veterans trust fund.

Meanwhile the state treasury and administrative officials have put into effect hundreds of measures designed to save money.

Big pedestal ash trays once used on state-operated Straits of Mackinac car ferries were sent in answer to a state aeronautics department request for 18 new ash trays.

State police were ordered to repair and use old vacuum cleaners in lieu of a $600 new purchase. A $300 appropriation for the state conservation department to purchase yellow traffic paint for parks was vetoed.

TRIP TURNED DOWN
A state official asked for $150 to finance a trip to attend a national professional meeting in New York. The request was denied.

State institutions used to paying cash for food, arranged for a four-month payment period for a $7,000 order of dried prunes.

Opening lead—ace of spades. Geoffrey Mott-Smith, who conducts the annual Intercollegiate Tournament in which about 100 colleges usually participate, and who prepares the hands and judges the results as well, is quite a player in his own right, as this deal will show.

He bought the contract at his own price—four hearts—doubled West led the A-K of spades, marking him with a doubleton, and shifted to the queen of diamonds. Mott-Smith ruffed, after ducking in dummy, and drew four rounds of trumps.

In the process he learned West had started with four hearts as well as two spades. It appeared likely that West held originally either three diamonds and four clubs, or two diamonds and five clubs.

To make the contract it was necessary, by fair means or foul, to avoid the spade loser. For this to be possible, Mott-Smith had to assume the adverse clubs were so divided that three club tricks would be made, the last of which would take care of his losing spade.

Accordingly, he led a low club West playing low, and won in dummy with the jack. East dropping the illuminating nine. Mott-Smith, stung up the situation correctly, overtook the queen with the king, sparring the ten at the same time.

The rest was easy. West's distribution was now an open book. He had started with two spades, four hearts, four clubs, and hence three diamonds. He could have only one diamond left, two rounds having already been led.

So Mott-Smith ruffed a diamond, running West out of the suit, and led a club towards dummy's 6-2. West, whose last two cards consisted of the A-7 of clubs, could do no better than make just his ace, and East, who had held the setting trick—the queen of spades—all through the hand, could do no more than chew his fingernails.

CITY COUNCIL BRIEFS

Ice Cream Bicycles At Lakes Proposed

Application of Mrs. Myrtle Forrest to operate a mobile ice cream confection service at Penticton's two lake beaches this summer was referred to the parks commission for recommendation, by Penticton city council last night. The ice cream would be sold from bicycles, operated by young men in uniform. Also referred to the parks' body was an application from T. Saunders, tabled from last week's council meeting, for an ice cream motor van at the beaches.

PRESIDENT AUTHORIZED

Council lost no time in authorizing George Corbin, city building inspector, to attend the 10th annual meeting of the Building Officials of Canada being held in conjunction with the fourth annual meeting of the B.C. Building Inspectors Association at Vancouver April 6, 7 and 8. It was noted that Mr. Corbin is president of the building inspectors' group.

HURTING BUSINESS

Two letters from Green Acres Market, Main Street, asked council to plan Main Street work either before or after the tourist season and to route traffic being detoured because of parades, via Carmi Avenue and Government Street rather than Hume Avenue.

Booklet on Chastity Stirs Controversy

LONDON (AP) — A British Medical Association booklet that poses the question Is Chastity Outmoded? is arousing controversy here.

The paper-backed booklet is the fourth of a series called Getting Married. It sells for a shilling. A group of Roman Catholic doctors headed by Dr. James O'Sullivan, a leading London gynaecologist, denounced the booklet.

"No decent father, let alone a Catholic, would agree with the booklet," said O'Sullivan. In the article, Dr. Eustace Chesser, a London psychologist, says "surely the individual citizen should have the right to choose between being chaste or unchaste, always assuming this was not detrimental to the society in which we live."

ONE IN THREE UNCHASTE Chesser says one woman in every three in Britain admits to pre-marital intercourse. One in 20 of all births are known to be illegitimate. One in eight would have been but for subsequent marriage. One in six of all babies are conceived ahead of marriage or out of wedlock.

"Do these figures mean that chastity is outmoded?" Chesser asks. "I doubt it. But it cannot be denied that we are moving in that direction."

"Pre-marital sexual intercourse, despite the fact that it is a limited relationship, can also be more than ordinarily pleasant," Chesser asserts. "Nature was not concerned with chastity, only with reproduction."

Canada Loses Bright Young Students to U.S.

By JOSEPH MacSWEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (CP)—With the ivy walls of Yale University you can get a quick lesson on why Canada loses bright young students to the United States.

Accident as well as opportunity is involved, it appears, and the scholars don't really consider themselves "lost" to Canada. Separate interviews with three Canadian teachers in the economics division produced surprisingly similar answers.

"Most young men mean to go back," said Professor Lloyd Reynolds, 49, chairman of the department and a native of Chauvin, Alta.

"I expected to go back myself, but we had the depression in those days and I was offered a teaching appointment — not in Canada."

PASSED OVER Said Ottawa-born Charles Berry, 29, assistant professor: "Most Canadians, including myself, plan to return to Canada. But the lines of communication are not good. We are not considered for opportunities in Canada."

"The lines of communication don't reach people who would be interested in going back. Many are in the U.S. by default, by accident."

The youngest of the three, Vancouver-born Ian Drummond, 26, an instructor, declared: "I don't plan on staying permanently... but the opportunities are better for research. In any given year there are only a limited number of openings in Canada."

In all there are four Canadians in the Yale economics faculty, which has a total of 40 members from some 10 countries. Yale has about 4,000 undergraduates and an equal number of graduate students.

The fourth Canadian, currently conducting research work in Europe, is John H. Young, 35, formerly with the trade department at Ottawa. Reynolds says Young, an associate professor, may well return to Canada later.

FINANCES KEY

Scholarships, fellowships and salaries are of much importance. "Any exceptional student in the U.S. can be assured his graduate education will cost him nothing," said Berry, a Ph.D. after studies at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., the University of Connecticut and the University of Chicago.

"In terms of Canadian alternatives I'm probably well paid," Drummond expressed the opinion that Yale salaries are "good although not better than some state colleges."

"They're better than anywhere in Canada except the University of Toronto."

The son of the late Professor George Finlayson Drummond, who taught economics at University of British Columbia, he has studied at UBC, the University of Toronto and the London School of Economics.

Yale students, many of whom come from a well-to-do U.S. background, are "very hard-working and willing to tackle tough subjects," Drummond said.

"On the social side, the Yale men are extremely homogenous—they tend to look and act alike—although this is essentially on the surface, because of their background."

"At UBC, Toronto and London, surface individuality was more apparent because of varying background, income and activities."

23,660 Qualified Teachers Needed

By CAROLYN WILLET
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada needs at least 23,660 qualified teachers to replace unqualified instructors in publicly-controlled schools, says a national survey of teacher qualifications.

A report by the Canadian Teachers' Federation on trends in certification standards says that in 1956-57 teachers with less than junior matriculation, and only one year of teacher training, made up 19.2 per cent of Canada's 123,340 teachers. This figure represents the "current minimum shortage" of qualified teachers, the 30-page report says.

Adding an estimated 500 teachers needed to take care of students taking correspondence courses, and another 9,000 to eliminate overcrowding in classrooms, the minimum shortage

PARLIAMENT AT A GLANCE

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Opposition Leader Pearson, in a want-of-confidence motion, said government delay in deciding air defence policy is preventing effective use of defence production facilities.

Defence Minister Pearkes said the armed forces have been trying since September to find work for the Avro Aircraft Company, where the Arrow jet contract was cancelled.

Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) accused the government of "stupidity" in switching from the Arrow to the "obsolete" American Bomarc anti-aircraft missile.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) said A. V. Roe Canada Limited had no alternative but to dismiss its 14,000 employees after cancellation of the Arrow program.

Defence Production Minister O'Hurley expressed optimism over chances of 100 Canadian companies he said are seeking U.S. defence contracts.

Unusual Calm Settling Over Strike Controversy

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP) —

An unusual calm settled over this central Newfoundland community Monday night after two months of controversy over a strike of 1,200 loggers against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

Premier Smallwood predicted here that the government-backed Brotherhood of Newfoundland Woodworkers (Ind) formed Saturday would have 5,000 members by week's end. He said it had 2,000 members Monday.

The premier sponsored formation of the union in an effort to smash the hold of the certified International Woodworkers of America (CLO) on an estimated 11,000 loggers in central and western Newfoundland.

Attorney-General Leslie Curtis gave notice in the legislature Monday that a fourth bill aimed at preventing the strike of 1,200 IWA loggers from spreading will be introduced. It would "protect" the public interest in the present emergency. Three bills—making undefined changes in the provincial Labor Relations Act, to prevent a general strike and to bar secondary boycotts—were introduced during Monday's brief sitting.

The IWA is striking for a five-cent hourly wage increase over two years and a reduction of the work week to 54 from 60 hours. They now get $1.05 an hour and pay $1.05 a day board while working in the woods.

Investigators Probe Collision Of Liner, Tanker

NEW YORK (AP)—Coast guard investigators Monday were trying to find the cause of a collision outside New York harbor Sunday of the American Export-luxury liner Constitution and the Norwegian oil tanker Jalanta.

A 100-foot bow section of the tanker was sheared off, but she remained afloat.

The liner suffered a gash in her bow about eight feet above the water line, 40 feet long and 15 feet wide.

Both ships made port without help. There were no injuries. Both ships carry radar.

Billy Graham Takes Brief Rest From Crusade

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) Taking a brief rest halfway through his Melbourne crusade, Billy Graham today went golfing after a day at the beach Monday.

Graham resumes his sermons tonight, preaching for the first time at the Melbourne show grounds. His doctors have ordered him to take it easy, with only one crusade meeting daily, because of the recurrence of the eye ailment which delayed his arrival in Australia.

Officials of the crusade consider the move to the show grounds the big test of Graham's impact on Melbourne. The new location is four miles from the centre of the city. The Music Bowl, where he has been drawing huge crowds, is in the heart of the city.

The Melbourne crusade ends March 15. Graham then goes to Tasmania to preach for two days, takes a two-week holiday, and takes a two-week holiday, and then holds crusades in Sydney.
